Dear participants,

within this folder, you'll find two subfolders with specific materials for Python. Both of them include slides/scripts/materials from lectures of the University of Osnabrück. One in German and one in English.

We're allowed to use them for this specific situation, so to provide an introduction for you. Therefore, we'd like to ask you to not share them with other people, so that we don't get in trouble.

Of course, you'll only need to cover the basics. Below, you'll also find a few links, that might help you with preparation. Best of all to all of you!

We're looking forward to meeting you!
